member of the Bourd of American took an important part in its deliberations, is actively canvassing for the Senate. Hon. Elben C. Folkes, for several terms a member of the House of Delegates, is an aspirant for the Senate also. He, too, has experience in legislation, is, an experienced public speaker, and a man who is far from new at canvassing for the suffrages of his fellows. Mr. Folkes is actively at work asking the support of his fellow-citizens.

Much Speculation.

A fourth candidate is Mr. John B. Minor, a lawyer and professor of law, and a former member of the Board of Aldermen, Mr. Minor was the last to enter the race, and is not making a general canvass. He is a man of education and culture, and is very well known throughout the city.

It is rather early to attempt to gauge sentiment accurately as to the relative strength of the four aspirants. Only two can be chosen. Who will be the two? Mr. Harman and Mr. Folkes are apparently making the most active canvass, but Mr. Blair has long been at work quietly, and had a strong nucleus of support before the campaign actually began.

Friends of Messrs. Harman and Folkes unite in expressing the opinion that Mr. Minor's candidacy will be more likely to draw from Mr. Blair's support than either of theirs, but Mr. Blair's friends will not admit this, and it is largely a matter of opinion. At this time the impression appears to be that the most formidable aspirants are Messrs. Harman, Folkes and Blair, in any order one chooses to place them. Many say that Harman and Folkes will be the two Senstors; others that Folkes and Blair will be, and still others that Harman and Blair will be chosen. Mr. Minor is not often mentioned in the street-corner gossip as to the contest. The situation may change, however, before the primary.

The first part of Thursday night's of fice will consist of three Psalms and three Jamentations of Jeremiah. Father Magri will chant the second of these Psalms. The first Lamentation will be sung by Rev. Charles Donohoe; the second by Rev. Folix F. Kaup, and the third, according to Stehle's harmonization, will be rendered by the full choir, who will also sing a short responsory after each Lamentation. At this point the musical program will be interrupted by a short sermon on the "Blessed Encharist," by Rev. J. T. O'Farrell, of Petersburg.

At the conclusion of each of the last six verses of this Canticle, the church will be gradually darkened, according to the ancient rubries, and in this almost total darkness a solemn and plaintive rendition of the words of Philippians ii. 8: "Christ became obedient unto death—even the death of the Cross," will follow.

At the conclusion of the "Benedictus," the "Misercre" will be recited by Rt. Rev. Bishop Van de Vyver, and the responses made by the full choir.

The Salvation Army throughout the United States expects to observe a week of "prayer and self-denial" from April 14th to 21st.
Captain Fowler, the local representative of the Army, says that the work is largely supported by the proceeds of "self-denial" week, "To Salvationists," he declared, "every week is one of sternest self-denial and of heartlest supplication on behalf of those among whom the Army labors; but to the world in general it is necessary to make stated and specific appeals. If the Army's work is to be kept up, it is certain that funds must be held, and it is from the people that these must be looked for. It would seem a vory natural thing, then, that during self-denial week, from April 14th to 21st, the Army should look to its friends for generous assistance."
Captain Fowler has just received from General Booth's headquarters the following statistics with regard to the foreign work of the Salvation Army in various mission fields:
Countries and colonies occupied, 53; languages preached, 30; preaching points, 7,684; officers, cadets and employes, 20,079; training homes, 31; periodicals, 68; circulation of same perissue, 1,086,490; social institutions, 755; prison gate homes, 16; rescue of same, 29,252

NOT ALLOWED IN NEW CLUB

250 members was reported, with looks as if the membership will reach the four hundred mark, which has been suggested as the maximum before the clubrooms can be opened.

A study of the personnel of the club, from the list published last Sunday, shows it to be composed of a body of men of high character and good business and social standing.

A general meeting will be called for an early date, At this time a permanent organization will be effected, and officers and directors will be effected. Following this meeting immediate application will be made for a charter, a draft of which has already been made. It is hoped that the rooms can be put in order, the furniture and fittings bought, and the club opened not later than the 1st of May. The present officers are on the lookout for a first-class man to operate the restaurant take charge of the clubbouse.

No Tipping Allowed.

No Tipping Allowed.

It is said that one of the distinctive features of the club will be that no tipping will be allowed. There has been much complaint that the practice of tipping has grown in the better downtown restaurants until it has become a serious item in the cost of a lunch. In fact, many men give it as their reason for patronizing the dairy lunch and coffee-houses, that at the better grade of restaurants they have to submit to a practical holdup at the hands of negro waiters.

A prominent business man, a director of one of the largest corporations in Richmond, in applying yesterday for membership in the Business Men's Club, stated that the movement to establish the club was "the thing Richmond had most needed for years." This gentleman declared he considered the Business Men's Club destined to play a most important part in the development of Richmond's activities.

A feature of the club, of interest to the younger members, is the installation of several private dining-rooms, where a member may entertain a small party of friends. An attraction to others is the having of small parlors, which can be cragaged by a party of sarty, of the having of small parlors, which can be engaged by a party of gentlemen who wish to have a quiet talk over some business matters.

The forty senators elected this fall will have a voice in the selection of the following judges whise terms explicitly and the selection of the judge J. F. Wost, Third Circuit, Judge J. Judge George K. Anderson, Nineteenth Circuit.
Judge Frank B. Hutton, Twenty-third Circuit.
The selection of these twelve judges will necessarily cut some figure in the choice of sonatorial candidates from those circuits, and as the one hundred members of the House of Delegates will have a voice in the selection of the six judges first named, the judge-ship will enevitably be an issue in almost every district. Naturally the influence of the judges and their friends will generally be accorded those candidates favorable to the re-election of the incumbents. The campaign promises to be a lively one in several districts.

under the viaduct at Twentieth and Dock Streets. Dr. Jones, in charge of the ambulance carried him to the City Hospital, where he lingered in an unconscious state until yesterday atternoon, when he died, never once having been able to tell about himself. Coroner Taylor will hold an inquest over the remains this morning. There was nothing on I him by which he might be identified.

The injuries to the man were mostly about the head, and it is likely he came to death from concussion of the brain. The mystery surrounding the death may never be explained. So ar as is known the man had no frien's here.

It was at first believed that he had been assaulted and robbed, and tien placed beneath the viaduct, but the police have had no reports of a missing man, and it is now thought that he was a tramp who was beating his way, and fell from the train to the ground beneath.

BARTON HEIGHTS WANTS MAN ON SCHOOL BOARD

Matter Discussed at Length at Meeting Held Last Night in Assembly Hall.

Assembly Hall.

A largely-attended meeting of the Citizens' Association and the property-holders of Barton Heights and Brookland Park, was held in the assembly-hall last night. The principal address of the evening was made by Mr./ Charles B. Cooke, on "Civic Improvement," and was very entertaining and instructive. The subject was further discussed by Mayor John E. Rose and others.

Among the matters considered at the meeting was the question of having a representative of Barton Heights on the Brookland District School Board. The terms of the present school board of the district—Mossrs. C. W. Wingfield, J. S. Buyan and J. N. Penick—expire May 1st, and it is urged that in the re-election, some representative of Barton Heights be included. It is pointed out that Barton Heights has just put $19,000 into a public school building; that it is the largest community in Brookland District; has the best school and the largest number of children. The action of the Citizens' Association was in the shape of a resolution requesting the town council of Barton Heights to nominate a man and recommend his selection by the county school board.

The street-car sprinklers were out yesterday wetting the streets along the routes of the various car lines, and officials of the company state that they will be run regularly. The weather has been abnormally dusty for this early in the season, hence the complaints of insufficient sprinkling. The company has two sprinklers which will be kept in almost constat use. The sprinkling done by the trolley company will be inadequate to lay the dust completely, since even if the spray extended the full six feet on each side the tracks, a large space between this and the curb would be left untouched, and this dust is blown upon the section sprinkled. The item of free water is not an important one, since the chief cost of sprinkling is in the almost constant operation of two sprinkler cars.
